

To living costs

Here's that hokey greeting once again,
Another year's gone by;

IN some ways we stay just the same,
At least, we try.

Why Not?

The life God gave to us is good,
Distinctively all our own;
To live and enjoy as we should,
Uniquely, ours alone.

IN other ways we always change
- Kids grow up
- hair falls out, some turns gray

But we can still laugh, sing, exchange fellow-Christian feelings

Till on That Day -

Our lives are followed by life everlasting,

And we'll see the One we've sung about, preached about, worked for -

Jesus, God's Son, of this Season
The heart, the core, the reason
For there being a Christmas -

And Cookie & Jo

And Betty & David

And that horse

After all, God's Son rode, at least one Time
